From a press release

There is a great opportunity for those looking for something fun to do with their family on a rainy - or perhaps even sunny Saturday - in November: visit Mount Pisgah Arboretum for the 3rd annual Play in the Rain Day on Saturday, Nov. 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Youth in Nature Partnership, comprised of governmental and non-profit organizations, will once again collaborate to bring youth into the outdoors.

Play in the Rain Day is a FREE FAMILY EVENT for all ages.

IF YOU GO: Share your videos and photos on KVAL.com - then watch for them on KVAL 13 TV News

The day's activities will include:

- tree-climbing
- horses

- nature crafts
- hikes
- hay rides
- campfire cookery
- a visit from Smokey Bear
- native plants
- fire by friction
- archery

Parking and all activities, including campfire food, are FREE!

Visitors will discover how fun, easy and rewarding it is to spend time outdoors in nature in ALL kinds of weather.

More than 1,000 people attended last year.

Play in the Rain Day will happen rain or shine, so dress for the weather.

For more information, call Liz Karas at 541-349-5055, ext. 201, or Peg Douthit-Jackson at 541-747-1504, or Chris Orsinger at 541-344-8350, or visit <http://www.youthinnature.org/>.

The Youth in Nature Partnership is a collaboration of non-profit and governmental organizations committed to increasing opportunities for youth to spend time in nature. Its members include the Bureau of Land Management, the City of Eugene, Friends of Buford Park & Mt. Pisgah, Nearby Nature, Northwest Youth Corps, Mount Pisgah Arboretum, Willamalane Park and Recreation District, the United States Forest Service, and Willamette Resources & Educational Network (WREN). From nature education to service learning to just plain fun each member organization values the wonder of nature and the ways it inspires children.
