Dear Friends,

Thank you for your continued support of Northwest Youth Corps. This year marks our 30th anniversary of helping youth to learn, grow, and experience success. We have come a long way since that summer in 1984, when 52 intrepid teens laced up their boots, put on hard hats, and headed out for an incredible adventure. During this journey, NYC has benefited more than 17,000 young people, and the lands and communities where they have served.

Our growth during these three decades has come from partnerships and investments from resource management agencies, foundations, corporations, and individual donors. Their commitment has helped thousands of young people to develop the assets needed to skillfully address the challenges of the future.

Together, we are providing highly effective programs with real world outcomes for our youth and our natural resources. As you read through this annual report, please consider investing in Northwest Youth Corps by sponsoring a project, making a donation, or helping us spread the word about our efforts to help develop the Leaders of the 21st Century.

Thank you,

Erik Jensen
President of the Board

I will always remember the physical and emotional challenges we all overcame together.

Corpsmember - Teens and Trails 2, Oregon, 2013

We learned how to build a bridge, a project we completed on the last day and that made for a perfect ending to an overall wonderful session.

Leadership for the 21st Century

NYC is committed to helping youth and young adults learn, grow, and experience success. Each participant graduates from our program better prepared to thrive in an increasingly changing world.

Today: NYC participants make a real difference in our communities, by doing the hard work of stewardship. Working in partnership with public land managers, they improve trails, restore lands, and create cleaner, healthier watersheds.

The Future: The environmental, social, and political challenges of the future will require leaders who can work as a team no matter how great the task. NYC empowers young people to recognize that they can make a significant difference in their own lives and the lives of others.

Tomorrow: The solid job skills, experience, references, and perseverance participants learn at NYC increases their ability to complete their educations, enter the workforce, and become leaders.
